BRITISH STILL FACE GREAT COAL CRISIS; ALLIANCE SPLIT HARD BLOW AT LABOR

LONDON, April 16.—The sensational developments of yesterday in the industrial dispute, while relieving the country from the danger of a railway and transport strike, still leaves them faced with a great coal crisis, involving continuance of the stoppage of work in the mines until at least Friday next.

Next Friday morning there will be a big conference in London of miners' delegates from throughout the country, at which it is expected the miners will decide what future action they shall pursue. Until that meeting has been held, matters so far as the miners are concerned, will remain as they are.

At the close of a two hour conference of the triple alliance executives at a Union House this morning, Herbert Williams, secretary of the transport workers' federation, issued a statement in which he declared the railway men and the transport workers had been compelled to cancel their proposed strike in sympathy with the miners because "no reasonable hope remained of securing the spontaneous and united action of three bodies which was so essential to give the miners' federation the assistance they sought."

A partial sympathetic strike would have been ineffectual, the statement pointed out. Up to Thursday evening, it continues, there was every hope of a tremendous display of working class solidarity, but circumstances destroyed the firm ground on which the strike call was based.

The triple alliance conference, added Mr. Williams, profoundly regretted the changed situation.

LONDON, April 16.—Labor forces of the United Kingdom are today apparently broken into sections as a result of the refusal of the National Union of Railway Men and the National Federation of Transport Workers yesterday to continue their support of the strike called by the miners' federation of Great Britain on April 1. Union prevails in some quarters, but the action of the railroad workers and the transport men means the death warrant of the "triple alliance."

"Yesterday was the heaviest defeat that has befallen labor within the memory of man," begins the Laborite Herald's comment on the sensational break-away of the railroad men and transport workers. "It is no use trying to minimize it. The workers have not stood together, and they have spoiled the reward."

"The old machinery has failed," the Herald concludes. "We must start afresh and get a machine that will

Gonzales May Be Planning New Revolt

LAREDO, TEXAS, April 16.—General Pablo Gonzales, former leader of the Mexican army under the Carranza regime, probably is in Mexico again, where he carried a deposit. It was stated at the bank that Gonzales left Laredo Thursday afternoon for an unknown destination.

Gonzales' family said here today they were unaware of his whereabouts. Denial was made at Gonzales' temporary home here last night, that he had returned to Mexico to lead a revolt against President Obregon's government.

An Associated Press dispatch last night from Mexico City quoted the Mexican war office as announcing that General Gonzales had entered Mexico yesterday at some point between Matamoros, near Brownsville, Texas, and San Fernando, Nuevo Leon. His family here immediately denied the report, declaring the general was at his home here.

The petition asserts that the church was "wrongfully and without color of right," picked up and deposited on a spot one mile distant from its original location, and names as defendant in the action the leader of a certain religious sect.

FRENCH MAY GO BEYOND RUHR DISTRICT IN NEW ADVANCE INTO GERMANY

PARIS, April 16.—Occupation of more German territory by French forces, should the Germans fail to meet the allied demands for the payment of 12,000,000,000 gold marks ($3,000,000,000) by May 1, may go beyond the Ruhr district and include at least a part of the industrial section of West Phalia, it is declared by the Echo de Paris.

Marshal Foch submitted the military report at yesterday's meeting of the cabinet, in which it was pointed out that it would be insufficient to fix the limits of the new occupied area on strictly military lines, adding that the economic elements was worthy of equal consideration.

The marshal is declared to have held that the first advance by French forces should be carried out with columns imposing enough to deal with any German reaction, although that would be most improbable.

Louis Loucheur, minister of liberated regions, submitted the economic report.

He outlined a system of payments of a permanent character which might be continued after the occupation. It consisted essentially in taxing Rhine-land coal and industrial products exported from the occupation area. He declared that, according to careful calculations, these payments should yield 3,000,000,000 gold marks ($750,000,000) per year, and said it would be a starting for a complete system of payment which could be applied to the whole of Germany. If the Germans could not be induced to come to a mutual agreement with the entente.

Rocky Mountain Region Is Under A Foot Of Snow

DENVER, COLO., April 16.—The Rocky Mountain region today was slowly recovering from the effects of the worst storm of the winter, which yesterday covered the district with a snow covering, ranging from 11 to 14 inches, blocked railroads and paralyzed wire communication in each direction from Denver.

Schedules were cancelled last night and were expected to be resumed today. Telegraphic service, however, was not expected to return to normal immediately because of the large number of poles torn down by the wind and weight of the snow. Reports of damage to livestock were anticipated when the outlying districts can be communicated with.

Communication Paralyzed

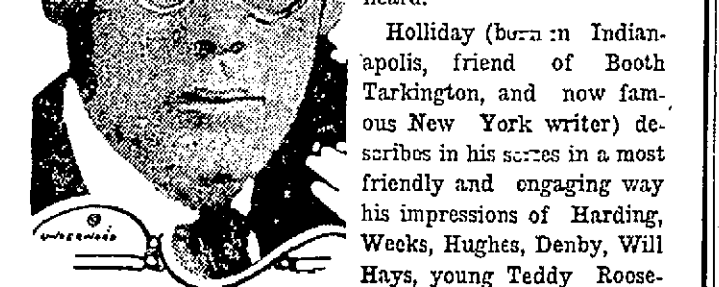

CHICAGO, April 16.—Telegraphic communication in the west and in southern sections of the country virtually were paralyzed today, according to reports received here today by telegraph companies.

There was no communication between Chicago and Omaha, and wires were in a demoralized condition from Denver southward, the affected area including Dallas, Texas; Little Rock, Arkansas; Shreveport, Louisiana; Memphis, Tennessee; New Orleans, St. Louis, Nashville, Chattanooga, Birmingham and Cincinnati.

A gale of high velocity accompanied by a cold driving rain, struck Chicago last night, with conditions but slightly improved today. The weather bureau reported the storm moving south-eastward.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 16.—Ten persons were killed, more than a hundred injured and scores of homes wrecked in a series of storms which were widespread over northern Alabama today. Seven deaths were reported from the Aycock community, near Tusculuma, and three from Ralph, Tuscaloosa county. More than forty persons were injured at the two places.

At Birmingham ten persons were injured. A hundred homes were damaged in the northern and western suburbs. Damage estimated at $30,000 was done at Rickwood Field, property of the Birmingham Baseball Association. The telegraph and telephone lines over the area were practically paralyzed by the disturbance, which covered a wide area and lasted through most of last night and until after noon today.

HATTIESBURG, MISS., April 16.—One woman was killed and at least 12 persons were injured in a tornado which struck Soutag, 16 miles east of Brookhaven, today. Ten houses were wrecked.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., April 16.—Fifty known dead and hundreds of persons injured were reported in dispatches received from the tornado swept sections of southeast Arkansas today.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., April 16.—Reports filtering into Birmingham over badly crippled lines of communication indicate that the town of Ralph, Tuscaloosa county, was almost completely wiped out by a cyclone early today and that Sulligent, Lamar county, suffered a like fate. In these early reports, which lack confirmation, the number of injured runs into the scores.

DALLAS, TEXAS, April 16.—At least seven lives were lost in northeastern Texas late yesterday in a tornado which after sweeping sections of Smith, Wood, Gregg, Cass and Bowie counties, passed into Miller and Hemphill counties. Arkansas, where more than a score of persons were reported killed. Scores of persons were reported injured in the affected area of Texas. Six of the Texas fatalities were at Avinger, Cass county, and one at Atlanta.

Reports coming into Little Rock from the storm area augmented rather than diminished the extent of the damage and because of paralyzed wire communication, officials were of the opinion that several days might elapse before the full extent of the destruction is definitely known.

Apparently the heaviest loss of life and property was caused in the two Arkansas counties. In the rural sections of upper Miller county near Texarkana, eleven persons are known to have been killed and a large number injured. Near Hope, in Hempstead county, press dispatches stated that from fifteen to twenty persons were killed and scores injured by the storm, which swept the entire length of the county.

The storm approached within a few miles of the town, according to reports reaching here.

Prescott is another town in Hempstead county that may have been struck by the storm.

A brief message received late last night said there were several bodies there, but it was not known just where the fatalities occurred.

In Texas the damage was in the vicinity of O'Farrell, a thickly settled farming community west of Atlanta. The dispatches reported an unknown number of persons killed and injured. Eleven bodies had been brought into Texarkana early today, it was reported. Four bodies had been taken to Hope from the storm district in that locality. Early newspaper estimates here placed the number of dead at approximately 30.

At both Texarkana and Hope measures were taken by municipal officials and citizens to afford relief for the storm sufferers.

Runners in light cars and on motorcycles were sent out in all directions. From the information obtained it was possible to send nurses and doctors into many localities immediately.

In the vicinity of Hope relief patches were being distributed.

Abrogation of National Agreements Big Step Toward The Return Of Nations Railroads To Normalcy

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921, by Times Pub. Co.)
WASHINGTON, April 15.—The railroads are getting back to normalcy. The decision of the railroad labor board is hailed as the first step in an adjustment between employers and employees. In some respects it is a victory for the railroads but upon careful analysis the decision is really found to be a compromise.

The so-called national agreements which now have been abrogated required the railroads to deal as a unit with their employees. In other words the arrangement was made when the roads were under federal control and the government was a single employer. Since the systems have been returned to their owners, the roads have contended that each employer should be permitted to work out his own salvation with his own employees because conditions are different in each locality. Labor insisted that it was simpler to retain the national conference idea. But this the railroad board has upset and its decision also sweeps aside scores of vexatious rules regarding working hours which, it is estimated, have caused a waste of about $200,000,000 a year.

Neither Side Has Free Hand
As the situation rests now, it is incumbent upon the railroads to get into conference with their employees and adopt a set of rules to govern working conditions. The railroad labor board has not given either side a free hand, however. These rules must conform to the sixteen principles laid down in the Chicago decision. The effect of some of these principles is such as not

THROWN FROM HIS BUGGY AND SEVERELY INJURED

James Williams, stable boss for the H. Lect Lumber Company and who lives at 625 Ninth street, suffered serious injuries about the head about 12:30 Friday afternoon in a peculiar accident.

Williams was driving a buggy and was on his way to the home of Albert Graf on Eleventh street when the accident happened. He was driving north on Lincoln street between Ninth and Tenth streets and was close to the curb. An iron anchor, to which guy wires for telephones and electric poles are fastened was extending between 18 and 24 inches over the curb. The right front wheel of the buggy was caught by this iron anchor and when the buggy was so suddenly stopped Williams was catapulted over the dashboard. He fell on the right side of his head and it is thought that his head struck the edge of the curb. Contractor W. F. Corson, who was passing, gave first aid but Williams was unconscious and Mr. Carson decided it would be best to notify Mr. Graf, Mr. Carson knowing that Williams worked for Mr. Graf.

Williams was assisted to his home where he remained in a state of coma for a short time. The most severe blow was suffered on the mastoid bone, back of the right ear. He also suffered a slight concussion of the brain. Williams spent a fairly good night and was feeling a little easier today. The horse broke loose from the harness but did not run away.

Decide Closing Dates

The retail stores would close on "Thursday" afternoons during the months of May, June, July, August and September. The vote taken by the committee by means of questionnaires sent to the various retailers showed that 90 per cent of them were in favor of the above months, while some wanted fewer months and others wanted the half-holidays in force a longer time.

The committee was also guided somewhat by the action of grocers, meat market owners and hardware men, who decided sometime ago to close on Thursday afternoons in order to give the clerks a half holiday during the hot months. The closing on Thursday afternoon will be observed by practically every line of business.

The questionnaires received are at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, where they may be inspected by anyone.

Lust Pleads Not Guilty To Liquor Law Violation

George "Boots" Lust, who conducts a soft drink establishment at Eleventh and Pindley streets, appeared in Municipal court Saturday morning and pleaded not guilty to a charge of unlawfully selling intoxicating liquor to one J. A. Powell, a farmer, living in the vicinity of Otway.

The complaint was filed by Harry Ball, attorney for the Law Enforcement league, following statements claimed to have been made by Powell after his arrest on a drunkenness charge Thursday night when he was found sleeping off a jag in the North End. Powell is alleged to have said he obtained his liquor from Lust.

The prosecution asked for a continuance until next Wednesday in order to get Powell into court to testify, and Judge Sprague granted the request. Lust has retained Attorney E. C. Millar to defend him.

Letters From Our Readers

Beaver, O., Apr. 15, 1921.
Portsmouth Times,
Portsmouth, O.
Gentlemen:

We see in your paper that the Beaver High school five forfeited a game to the Bigelow Specials. This is wholly untrue as we never quit playing till the coach of the Portsmouth High school team (who was the authorized timekeeper) called time out. The Specials claimed we still had eight minutes yet to play which the coach said was untrue. The best proof for our winning the game was the coach and the honest people who attended the game. The Referee Art Doll claimed we forfeited the game for the simple reason we protested his playing. After the first half when we were in the lead the Referee put on a gym suit and declared he would play for the Specials. We protested as they were using every player they could get including Ogier.

We can truthfully say that this is the worst deal we ever had and we have played some twenty teams this winter. The Specials are a church team but they do not show it. We supposed a church team would play one of the cleanest games instead of one of the worst.

Yours Respectfully,
BEAVER HI SCHOOL TEAM.

Editor Times:
In reply to the charges made by the Beaver team we wish to say that we tried to be governed by what the officials of the game decided. We did what we thought was right and are sorry if the Beaver boys think they got the worst of it.

We want to play Beaver on their own floor Monday night, and if they win, to play the deciding game on a neutral floor. In other words we want to play basketball and not call names.

She further alleges that by reason of the acts complained of on the part of the defendant, including accusations that the plaintiff was a woman of bad repute and charged to her husband to abandon her last December, she says, at a time when she was in a delicate condition and claims that the divorce suit was filed at the instance of the defendant which charges the plaintiff with neglect and cruelty, which she strenuously denies and asserts it has caused her great humiliation.

Wife Admits Charge

Harriet A. Newman, of Rocky Fork, appeared before Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Saturday to testify in her own behalf as defendant in the divorce suit brought by her husband, Omer C. Newman, Otway farmer. She admitted the charge of willful absence by the husband in his petition, explaining that she left him less than two years after their marriage in January, 1914, because they could not get along peacefully. At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Thomas took the case under advisement. Attorney W. L. Hostetter represented the plaintiff.

Mrs. Postma Asks Divorce

Cinderella Postma, of Bertha post-office, charges cruelty in her suit for divorce and alimony filed in Common Pleas court Saturday against Peter Postma, Star Run farmer, whom she married Feb. 24, 1920, in this city.

In her petition filed through Attorney T. C. Beatty the plaintiff alleges that Postma has cursed, beat and otherwise mistreated her practically all their married life, declaring that about two months ago he struck her in the mouth with his fist, knocking out one of her teeth and that he has thrown rocks at her and threatened to kill her, drawing a hatchet on her on one occasion. She claims that she can no longer live with the defendant as his wife by reason of his conduct toward her.

The Staker meat market front was so badly damaged that the firemen boarded up the front late Friday afternoon. Mr. Staker owns his building and has fire insurance which he does not think covers accidents like happened yesterday. Sam Crawford owns the brick structure occupied by the Knost grocery.

Bert Leach read an original poem, reviewing the work of Dr. Wagner in the extension work conducted in this city, to which Dr. Wagner responded in his pleasing manner.

Later the guests were served with luncheon in the beautifully adorned dining room, where tables were arranged by the refreshment committee. Misses Florence Daehler, Lulu Newland, Mary Graf, Mayme Musser, and Charlotte Marsh. Attractive bouquets of candy marked the places.

Nenscheler, who is 35, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Gompers, of Zanesville, Ohio.

Mr. Gompers and his fiancée arrived early in the day at the marriage license bureau, where the labor leader was instantly recognized by the chief clerk and ushered into the latter's office. There Mr. Gompers gave his age, his birth place—London—and the names of his parents, who were born in Holland.

Mrs. Nenscheler also answered the formal questions. A copy of a final decree of the divorce she obtained three days ago was attached to a license.

Shortly before the couple entered a taxicab, Mr. Gompers said to reporters: "I am too happy for words, my boys."

When the labor chief first met Mrs. Nenscheler, she was living in Trenton and had attended his lectures. For several years after that Mr. Gompers was a close friend of her family, although he and his fiancée did not meet again until last year, several months after the death of his first wife.

After obtaining the license, Mr. Gompers and his fiancée went to the hotel, where the ceremony took place. The best man was John Morrison, a New York publisher, and Mrs. Morrison was matron of honor.

Other guests included: Mrs. Sara Conboy and B. A. Langer, labor leaders; Mrs. Irvin Brown, of Trenton, N. J., sister of the bride; Miss Elsie Gompers, another sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rucker, personal friends of Mr. Gompers, and William Ashley, a lawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gompers left immediately for Toronto, where the labor leader is to deliver an address next Tuesday before the Empire Club on labor's policy toward the "open shop."

Replying to the communication from Mr. Cramp and J. H. Thomas, notifying him that the railroad men and transport workers had withdrawn their support from the miners Prime Minister Lloyd George wrote:

"I am gratified to learn your unions do not purpose to resort to an insensate method of attempting to compel the handing down of judgment on the wage question by paralyzing the country's industries and bringing suffering to millions of innocent people while the government was urging a saner method of negotiation."

In the meantime, the stoppage of coal mining continues and it is pointed out in various quarters that the situation is still serious. Announcement is made on behalf of the government that efforts to reach a solution will not be relaxed. King George has loaned from his castle cellars 25 tons of coal to Windsor coal merchants until the supply is again normal. Reports from provincial centers mention the bewilderment and bitter disappointment felt in the extremities sections of the miners, railroad men and transport workers at the failure of the "triple alliance" strike.

PERFECT SCORES ROLLED AT SELBY BANQUET

Fouls, splits, and "cherries" were things unknown and scores, strikes, turkeys and perfect 300 scores were every minute happenings last night when more than 100 members of the Selby Bowling League enjoyed the second annual banquet in the factory restaurant room starting at 5:30 o'clock. It was a bigger success than the one given last year and all things look forward to a bigger and better league in 1922, followed by an even larger and more enthusiastic banquet.

The talks made by the various members of the league were bristling with scores and good scores alike, several speakers not forgetting to mention the Directors who hung onto the cellar position with such a grip that no other team was able to slip into the last place in the standing. The many jolly good times that were the result of fellowship developed on the alleys were recounted time and again, nearly everyone on the program speaking of the good he had received and the team also from meeting employees from all parts of the factory in the recreational room. As the result of a successful season and talks last night during which the need of two additional alleys was stressed it is probable that two more bowling alleys will be installed before next season rolls around.

Earl Reinhard will lead the league next season. He was a member of the Champs five and was one of the most popular players in the league. John Scott was elected vice-president and Marlon Prosch was re-elected secretary and treasurer. Reinhard was vice-president last season. The executive committee will be composed of the captains of each team in the league.

The music for the evening was furnished by Forest "Piggy" Buttrum, star bowler and his rightly named Sorenaders including a quartet of singers and a trio of instrumental players. Besides their well received selections there was group singing led by Foster Krahe, national community service representative. Roy W. Winton, of the same organization, presided at the piano.

The banquet started at 5:30 o'clock with the serving of a several course chicken supper, the menu being carefully arranged by the committee in charge. Following the passing of cigars, President Henry Holstetter took charge and after remarking that he hoped the Selby Shoe Company would see its way clear to install two more alleys, said that he knew the men had made perfect scores with the feed and hoped they would make scores just as high next season on the alleys. He introduced H. M. Baker as the toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Baker then taking charge. The toastmaster said that it had been a pleasure to meet the many fellows of other teams on the alleys and that the recreational room had provided the place where the employees and employers could get together. Major Winton then gave a short talk on what the Community Service intended to do in helping Portsmouth form a Leisure-Time activities program. He then introduced Foster Krahe who explained

A telegram from Jiggs from Miami, Fla., was then read. Jiggs wiring his regrets and explaining he could not get out on account of Maggie guarding the house.

The next speaker was Harry Drennan, who headed the Wreckers the last half of the season. He said that his team had the record of leading the second division and were down low enough in the race to appreciate the feeling of the lowly Directors. Mr. Drennan said that he enjoyed every game and expressed the views of each member of the team with that statement. He thanked all the members of the team for their support and said that the Wreckers would be there next season fighting harder than ever.

Marlon Prosch of the Messengers said that the Messengers finished so near the top of the ladder that he thought good allis as to why they did not win could be given at this time. They lost out by four games, two of the defeats being laid at the feet of John Collins, who insisted on heeding the call of the village damsel and Captain Faught who was captured for good by one fair lady.

"Another telegram, Mr. Baker," said one of the writers, and then a message from President Warren G. Harding was read as follows: "The league's endorsement of C. J. Hauck means his appointment as director of bowling in my cabinet."

GRAND JURY RETURNS 27 TRUE BILLS

Frank Flowers of the Ink Slingers said that his team did not make any record to blow about but that they had a fine time and would be in the running again next year.

Fred Lorey was called upon to represent the Office team, that finished at the top (the first week) but later fell to a position that was somewhere near the Directors, who were at the bottom. In fact, the Directors is the only team that saved the Office gang from going into the cellar position. Mr. Lorey also said that he thought two more alleys were needed and thought that the way and means would be forthcoming soon, so the alleys could be installed. He also complimented the Tackers and Champs and also the representative team of the league that made a splendid record. The speaker also remarked on the splendid spirit of fellowship that had resulted in the meeting of the many employees from all parts of the factory on the alleys.

The Champs, the winners of the first half of the season were presented with silver lead pencils by the president of the League. The members of the Champs are Paul Bauer, Earl Reinhard, G. Keller, Frank Merrill, Morris Williams and George Funk.

The Tackers, winners of the second half made a notable record in not having rolled a blind during the whole season. The Tackers are stickers and are James Sikes, Elmer Nardi, C. E. Marple, Doc Keeg, Frank Pultz and Vernon Spence. They were also presented with silver lead pencils and will receive a pennant for the League Championship.

The players are proud of the tokens of esteem received by them and the interest shown by the league in them through the presentation of the gifts will make them fight all the harder for added victories. Vernon Spence spoke for the Tackers, thanking the league for the gifts and the many complimentary remarks made of them during the evening. One of the happiest men in the banquet room was Captain Marple of the Tackers, who had a just right to feel proud of the championship race made by his team. It was through his efforts that the team was kept intact and went through the season with four members holding a perfect attendance record.

Several teams had not been heard from so Toastmaster Baker called upon Captain A. Holstetter of the Rounders who responded saying that his only alibi was that his team did not knock down enough pins to put them at the top of the league standing, but added the Rounders would be on the job next season fighting harder than ever. Captain Evans of the Stabbers and Captain Hehl of the Electrics were not present and these two teams were not heard from.

The election result was then read and the new president, Earl Reinhard, took charge. President Holstetter retiring after thanking the league members for their loyal support the past season.

President Reinhard said that he was being called upon to fill some big shoes but that he would try to grow large enough to fill them. He brought the matter of a tournament before the members and motions were made to duplicate the tournament of last season. There will be five-men events, doubles and singles with suitable prizes. The tournament will be held in two weeks in order to keep something doing at the alleys until the baseball season starts.

The committee in charge of the successful banquet included Homer Selby, chairman, William Seyfried, Elmer Nardi, J. Watson Goldard, and Forrest Buttrum.

Emergency Tariff Bill Is Put Through House

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—With the combined emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill put through the house was in adjournment today until Monday to permit the selection of minority committee members, particularly those on the immigration committee, before the immigration restriction bill is reported out.

Passed in the house yesterday by a vote of 265 to 112, only eight Republicans and fifteen Democrats breaking away from the party alignment. The measure, the Young emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill now goes to the senate with Republican leaders hopeful of its passage there next week.

With the house in adjournment, the senate still had before it today, the Colombian treaty, with Republican opponents of ratification planning to continue their attack. Senators Poinsett, Washington, and Keough, Iowa, were prepared to speak on the pact.

They Have Selected Threaded Rubber

Why did the makers of the cars listed below select Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation?

First—because many years of actual service on thousands of cars have proved that Threaded Rubber Insulation outlasts the battery plates and consequently adds to battery value and car value.

Second—because they know that every piece of Threaded Rubber Insulation is exactly like every other piece—insurance of uniformity impossible with ordinary insulation.

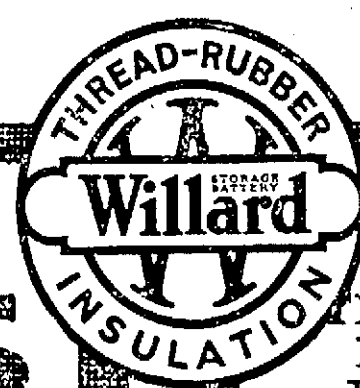

Third—because they know that rubber is the most satisfactory insulating material, and that Threaded Rubber Insulation is the most practical form for starting and lighting batteries.

Poland Ratifies Peace Treaty With Russia

WARSAW, April 16.—Ratification of the treaty of peace between Poland, Soviet Russia and Ukraine has been voted by the Polish diet. This action, which took place yesterday, completes Poland's engagement to have the convention approved within 30 days after the pact was signed on March 18. The Bolshevik government ratified it on March 22, but similar action on the part of Ukraine has not yet been reported.

Under the terms of the convention, Soviet Russia ceded to Poland 2000 square kilometers near Minsk, and Russia and Ukraine turned over to Poland the District of Polesia on the Ukrainian frontier. Russia and Ukraine agreed to pay to Poland within a year following ratification of the treaty 200,000,000 gold rubles, and to release Poland from being liable for any share of the debts of the former Russian empire. Amnesty for political crimes was provided for, and all parties agreed to abstain from propaganda against each other.

The vote of the diet in ratifying the treaty was unanimous. Two of the Jewish members abstained from voting as a protest against what they contended was a failure of the treaty property to provide for the repatriation of Polish citizens now in Russia, of which many are Jews.

It was announced that the negotiation of a commercial agreement between Poland and Soviet Russia would be begun shortly.

RICH MEN'S AND POOR MEN'S CHURCHES

The second of a series of sermons on the church will be given at Trinity Church Sunday night by the pastor, Nathaniel E. Butler, under the topic, "Rich Men's and Poor Men's Churches." Last Sunday night a large congregation listened to the first of these sermons on "The Business Man and the Church." No doubt there will be even a larger number to hear this sermon Sunday evening. In the morning the pastor of Trinity will speak on "The Prophet Amos, a Cry for Justice." The morning sermons on the prophets are proving interesting and informing. One of the additional features to the morning service is the Junior Choir. These young people have added much to the music of the services. Sunday promises to be a big day at Trinity. You are invited to join the worshippers at this church. The services are at 10:15 and 7:30.

Dear Dolly—As you have helped so many others I am coming to you for advice. What do you think of a sixteen year old girl sitting in a laundry room in front of her home every night till one and two o'clock, spooning? I would say that is her affair, which neither you nor I could very well help by butting in. Love's young dream, you know.

Dear Dolly—I want your advice. I was married in January and have been getting along fine until just a few days ago. My wife, she wants to walk the streets or roam the town while I work every day then she don't want to go any place with me at night. I have been good and true to her and tried to reason with her but she wants to have her way. Do you think it is right for a woman to just have her way in everything when a man does his best to make her happy, please her? When pay-day comes I give her the week's salary. I don't know just what to do some times. I just hate to have a quarrel with any one. Please print in your column what I should do. THANK YOU.

Of course, I have heard only one side of the story, but if your wife is conducting herself in such a manner, you might just as well let her have her way and avoid arguments and quarrels. Married life is full of little differences which are patched up in no time. In many cases, and sailing is as smooth as it was before. You will gain nothing by stormy quarrels.

Dear Miss Wise—Please allow me a little space in your interesting column to say that while "Many Thanks" I still let you, regarding her and her fellow, seemed so identical with mine, still I am sure I do not know her, and it seems to be a case of mistaken identity, but for her benefit I will say that my first initial is J. and I live on Rhodes avenue, but not knowing, I could not tell where she lives. But I have since met the real girl, and have an appointment to meet her again on Saturday night if it does not rain, at the same old place in lover's lane, all dressed in my Sunday best, if its red in the west. SHATTERED ROMANCE
It was during their stay in Lucerne that Gwendal met a young Swiss merchant, whose father owned one of the largest lace-making factories in that part of the country. Jakob Herselle was his name, and he was a tall, broad-shouldered fellow, with red cheeks and a sunny smile. He laid siege to Gwendal's heart as soon as he met her and was untiring in his attentions.

Gwendal swam with him, motored with him, and climbed the tallest peak of the tallest mountains, with him at her side. Jakob never wavered in his determination to woo and win her. This virile stranger from a strange land. The more she dilted, the harder he pursued.

"You'd certainly be mistress in your own home if you married Jakob," said Fern with a laugh, some weeks after Gwendal had met him, "and you'd never be bored, for whatever else Jakob could always give you for your amusement. He yodels beautifully. I heard him at it coming through one of the mountain passes the other morning. Besides, he is fabulously wealthy, and could give you everything your heart desired, my dear. That in itself is an inducement."

"Consent; I have no intention of marrying Jakob, or any one else in this part of the country, Fern," she answered rather crossly. Nevertheless that very night Gwendal sat down and wrote a long letter to John, telling him all about her lover, of his fondness and his many accomplishments.

She waited impatiently for an answer, but a week went by—and still she had not heard from John. "Too busy with some doc-eyed Italian signorina, no doubt," she said to herself petulantly. "Well, he'll wait a long time before I write again. Though I really have no reason to be peeved because John does not take sufficient interest in my affairs to write and congratulate me or maybe upbraid me!"

After ten days she received a short note from Milan, telling her he was frightfully busy but had noted with interest her news. Suggested that she accept the smiling Jakob and by so doing make him the happiest man in the world."

"Light words, Mister John," she muttered after reading this, "but I wonder if you really mean them, way down deep? Who can tell? Men are strange animals after all."

"Ready to go on up to Paris, you told Fern the next day, "or would that be a wrong move on your part, Gwendal? Fern, here, tells me that you have lost your heart to our ruddy young Jakob. If so, we'll stay on and see it through with you, my dear. Just say the word."

Gwendal shook her dark head angrily at him. "We'll leave here just as soon as we can pack and clear out and I'm not a bit in love with Jakob, so there."

And dry-eyed she parted from her admirer on the morrow, promising to write to him, but beyond that not incriminating herself in the least.

Clean-Up-Week May 8-14

Dates for Clean-Up Week were definitely set Friday afternoon at a meeting of the Safety Council held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Fire Prevention Week will be held in connection with Clean-Up Week. It is to be observed from May 8 to May 14.

A resolution was passed authorizing the naming of a committee to call upon City Council and protest against the re-establishing of a public market place on Gallia street esplanade, on the grounds that it was a fire and accident hazard.

Willey Ewing of the Safety Council was selected to edit the issue of a semi-monthly safety bulletin that is to be sent to all school teachers with

BILLY WILKES

FRANCES THEODORE MONTGOMERY

Now, Frisky had never thrown any rough it, and not have to be carried from her back in her life, being so gentle and kind, but to have a stranger treat her in the manner in which the horse thief did was more than she could understand, so she made up her mind to treat him as he was treating her. With a spring to one side and a lurching up of her back, quick as a cat, she threw the thief heels over head into the middle of the blackberry bushes, and he had scarcely struck the ground when two long, sharp, horns raised him up again and landed him in a thorn-apple tree, while the horse and goat ran out of the woods together and kept on running until they were on a long ways off before they stopped. Then they rested a few minutes, took a few nibbles of sweet clover, wet with dew, to refresh themselves, while they talked over the adventure.

When daylight came they found that they were on a long road, while away to the southeast was a purple line of mountains.

"Frisky, I have a proposition to make. See how you like it. It is this: Instead of going home, let us keep right on, until we reach those mountains and take a little vacation. You haven't had one since I came to the farm."

"No, and I don't need one either, for all I have to do is to take Violet for rides and drives, and that is just like play. I can't see that you are over-worked, either, Billy."

"Oh, I don't mean to take a vacation for rest, but for fun, where we

"Yes, and at night we can go foraging and steal apples out of the orchards on the mountain sides, and stand in the river that flows at its foot in the daytime to keep off the flies."

The prospect sounded so inviting that they trotted toward the purple mist line that told where the mountains were.

SENTIMENT FOR Y. W. INCREASING

The directors of the Y. W. C. A. have gratefully received a check thinking about the welfare of the city's who requested them to fill it out for the amount they may care to. This is itself an encouraging, indeed, as it shows that the men of the town are thinking about the welfare of the city's womanhood. Many men have shown interest and have made inquiries as to the probable outcome of the financial drive, lending their aid in the important undertaking. As there is no other campaign for this year, it is hoped to make as much of this one as possible, and the women and girls are urged to send in their memberships as soon as possible, or to sign up so as to insure the committee of their intentions.

To further the work throughout the county, Miss Laura Jones, the town and county secretary of the Y. W. C. A. is expected to arrive the latter part of the week to organize the county work for the first time. To the girl in the country, the "Y" offers the get-together spirit which comes from county wide organizations, grade and high school clubs, educational classes under volunteer leaders, organized play the necessity of securing the maximum service with the minimum equipment. In short, it means the opening up of a new life along educational and recreational facilities for the girl in the rural districts.

The moral support must come from the churches as this is the only Christian woman's organization in the world, and it is hoped that by the first of the week more definite news as to the results may be reported.

Abrogation

To destroy altogether some of the burdensome rules but even if the railroads should be able to save $150,000,000 annually by means of new working rules, the economy will be considerable. Furthermore, the disciplinary effect of dealing direct with one's own men and regulating conditions locally is expected to be a big factor in efficiency of operation.

Labor Standards Preserved
The sixteen principles laid down by the railroad labor board preserve in a large sense the labor standards which the railroad employees were most apprehensive about losing if the national agreements were abrogated. Labor was not so much concerned with possible reductions in pay as the maintenance of rules which safeguarded employees against abuse by arbitrary

The other girls would too if they had one action of unruly railroad officials. But the Chicago decision set forth cardinal principles which must be the basis of all rules, whether local or regional or national. If the parties to the dispute cannot formulate a set of rules by July 1 next the railroad labor board will hand down a set of rules binding on both parties.

Restores Individuality to Roads
Naturally workmen imagine that with the abrogation of the national agreement, certain aggressive foes of union labor in the railroad world will assume an arbitrary attitude and that the strike weapon which has hitherto been used as a means of coercing a single road will be of little avail. If working conditions on the Pennsylvania system for instance are agreeable and wages are fixed to the satisfaction of the men, there will be little reason for sympathetic action with the employees of a southwestern railroad. The power of the railroad brotherhoods has been their right to negotiate for all the railroad employees of the country as a unit. This has admittedly resulted in inequities and the railroad systems have insisted that since the roads came back to them, two hundred employers exist instead of one federal employer and it is desirable for each road to deal directly with its own men on all questions.

Some More Thorns Removed
The arbitrary railroad executive, however, will still be subject to the rules of the railroad labor board to which an appeal can be taken if there are violations of the principles in the Chicago decision just announced. On the side of the railroads, too, some thorns will have been removed. It will be noted that the Chicago decision speaks of payment for the eight hour day on a basis of "practically continuous service." This of course doesn't relate to trainmen and engineers whose hours were fixed by the Adamson law but it does have a vital bearing in station agents and other railroad employees for whom the railroads have actually had only two or three hours work a day but have been compelled to pay a full day. It is said that there are many instances of station agents who open suburban stations for an hour in the early morning and again at night, handling only two trains a day. In the interim they have established themselves in private business, drawing pay from the roads for an eight hour day as well as from their own business pursuits. The full effect of the decision will not be immediately apparent. The specific rules have yet to be formulated by the roads and the representatives of labor. But the Chicago decision affords a basis for compromise and readjustment and the general feeling in the national capital here, particularly among those who have made a study of the railroad problem, is that the Chicago decision starts the ball rolling and that if as expeditious action be secured on the general question of wages the railroads will slowly emerge from chaos to the efficiency which formerly characterized private operation and control.

Seek Compromise on Wages
President Harding is for the moment occupying himself with questions looking toward a compromise between both labor and employers on the wage agreements, which of course, are untouched by the Chicago decision. Some stimulus from the chief executive may be necessary before a decision is reached on the wage question and there is talk of a general conference between employers and employees of each region to adjust wage scales irrespective of the outcome of the cases pending before the labor board at Chicago.

To Demonstrate Congregational Singing

The people of Portsmouth who are interested in and who love good music will be peculiarly drawn to the Sunday night program at the First Presbyterian church.

Foster Krake, representative of National Community Service, in the interest of community singing, has promised that if he be provided an audience of sufficient proportions, and the necessary interest in singing, he will demonstrate fully just what the possibilities of good congregational singing really are. Portsmouth will gladly provide these requisites and on one who has watched him doubtless for a moment Mr. Krake's full ability to make people sing and sing well.

Before the "sing" gets under way, Mr. Krake, at special request, will talk for ten minutes on "The Possibilities of Congregational Singing," and pave the way for the full understanding on the part of his audience as to just what he expects of them. To those who are technically interested in the big field, and those who "just love to sing but are afraid to let their voices out when no one else does," a cordial invitation is extended to attend the service and put heart and voice into it.

This program alone would attract any lover of music, but a fully balanced musical program has been arranged.

Mrs. J. M. Stockham at the organ insures an adequate accompaniment. In her Philadelphia experience as organist she was noted for her rare ability to develop congregational singing, and she will be at her best tomorrow night. Major Roy H. Winton, national Community Service organizer also an amateur musician of no mean ability, will assist at the piano.

This program alone would attract any lover of music, but several ensemble and solo number will be included in which Mr. Krake's glorious dramatic tenor will be a delightful feature, thus presenting a fully balanced musical program.

These selections include two ensemble numbers: Trio—"Ye Fields of Light"—by E. M. Lett. Mrs. O. J. Deltzer, Mrs. Chas. J. Storck and Mr. Foster Krake. Duet—"Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah"—by Mrs. O. J. Deltzer, Mr. Foster Krake.

Mr. Krake will also be heard in two solos, "Invocation" by Gilbert Spross, and "Sunrise and Sunset" by James H. Rogers.

Those who have been often attracted to First church by the organ work of Mrs. J. M. Stockham, will be interested in her selections for tomorrow night which include: "Hosanna"—Wachs "Toccata"—Delibes. "War March of the Priests," from "Athalie"—Mendelssohn.

SIGNS OF OUR LORD'S RETURN

There is great interest being taken in the series of sermons on the "Second Coming of Christ" that is being presented by Pastor H. Stewart Tills on Sunday nights at the First Baptist church, the next in number will be "Signs of Our Lord's Return." This message will set forth scriptural reasons for believing that Christ's coming is near. Pastor Tills contends that a real heart belief in the "blessed hope" will, according to the word of God lead to a holy walk, those who live in sin do not want to see the Lord. "Every man that hath his hope in Him purifieth himself, even as He is pure." 1 John 3:3.

To Discuss 'Christian Recreation'

Miss Mildred Hughes will have charge of the Senior Christian Endeavor Society of the Second Presbyterian church Sunday night. "Christian Recreation" will be the topic discussed. Malby Ruggles will sing "Oh! House of Many Mansions."

Last Sunday night the Mystery Contest closed. The Reds won. Tomorrow night the lineup of the two sides will be announced, and every member is expected to be on hand to find out where he stands. The president will appoint a committee from the losers to prepare an elaborate banquet with soup and nuts and everything. This committee will be appointed Sunday night. The Christian Endeavor larch string is out for all the young people of Portsmouth.

The time is 6:35.

Replying to the American inquiry in this connection, the government expressed the pleasure of France at Mr. Herrick's nomination to the post and said his return would be greeted with great pleasure. Gratitude also was expressed to Mr. Herrick for accepting the ambassadorship to France, where his presence, it was added, was welcome.

Community Chorus Rehearsals Begin Monday

Reports would indicate a splendid group of volunteer song leaders and volunteer accompanists to greet Foster Krake, as he begins his course of two weeks' intensive training of them on Monday night at 7:30 at the All Saints' Parish House.

Many persons in Portsmouth wish they could lead singing for a particular group in which they are interested, but do not know enough about the mechanics of it to feel real confidence. The course of six lessons under such an instructor as Mr. Krake will be of immense value. Many good pianists, too, will enjoy improving their accompanying ability, and Mr. Krake will train them also, in connection with the song leaders.

Portsmouth's First Community Chorus Rehearsal will be held on or about the first of May, which means some sharp work on the part of the chorus, which will meet at the same time and place for their first rehearsal. As the accommodations of the stage at the High School, even when it is extended, will permit but a chorus of two hundred voices, those interested are urged not to delay their participation, but to be on hand for the first rehearsal Monday night, at 7:30. Portsmouth's Musical Possibilities are Unlimited.

Boyhood Days At Old Swimming Pool Recalled By Harding

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—Boyhood days of President Harding when he used to slip off to the old swimming hole in the creek near Calcutta, Ohio, were recalled by him today to a letter in lead pencil from 12-year-old John D. Wackerman of this city.

The president's letter was in answer to an appeal from John that he attend a ball given by the ladies of the community house for the benefit of a swimming pool for boys. In explaining that he had been asked by his playmates to write the president, John said: "Mr. President, we want a swimming pool just like you would if you were a boy, so please come. I told the boys that I did not believe any president would not let the boys go without a swimming pool when he could let us have it by paying 50 or 75 cents for a ticket for a ball. If you come every body will come, and we can have our swimming pool, so please come."

In a postscript John added:

"Yours for the swimming pool."

Please write me a letter and let us know. The fellows are so discouraged to think we can't have a pool."

In his reply the president wrote: "My Dear John—I received your letter this morning, saying that the boys were very much disappointed because they had heard I could not attend the ball in the interest of your swimming pool fund. I am exceedingly glad you wrote to me about this, John, because I do not want the boys to think I am not interested in getting a swimming pool. I have used swimming pools myself in my time and there are one or two swimming pools in the creek out near Calcutta, Ohio, that I would like to get into again right now, if it were possible. "You told the boys that I hope that the ball will raise all the money that is needed to provide the pool and that if some of you will come around to the White House with some tickets I will buy some, whether I can attend or not."

"Yours for the swimming pool."

Gossip From The Capital City

(BY MARCUS)

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 16.—What does it all mean when high leaders of the Republican party in Ohio tell the series around the Capitol that Hon. Harry L. Davis, Governor of Ohio, is in a jam? What does it mean when the Republican press, in singular and strange unanimity, is silent upon the reorganization code which will be the great accomplishment of the Davis administration? What does it mean when the leading lawyers of Ohio say that the whole emergency proposition is likely to be considered not even a close question before the court? What does it mean that two members of the Republican State Central Committee have joined in the effort to bring the case into the Supreme Court?

These questions are asked because they represent facts established beyond peradventure or doubt. They must have some significance in the present state of affairs. Let us consider them a little further. The Governor's closest advisers were constant in their opposition to the emergency proposition. It was only after a long run and that he had taken the wrong attitude for one who has striven to have himself regarded as of progressive tendencies. There are only two newspapers in Ohio, outside of those in Columbus, so far as we know, who have commended the emergency bill and more especially the emergency clause and these who have nearly always made fun of the constitutional referendum.

There is no levity in the attitude of the Republicans in desiring to be "in on" the referendum proceedings. Senator J. F. Burke has been scheming to this end for days and he finally boldly declared his reason. George B. Harris, of Cleveland, a factor in the party in northern Ohio, has joined in and another committee is ready likewise to declare without equivocation. The contention of Mr. Burke, Mr. Harris and the others is that the Democrats go ahead and put the popular rights without putting in a referendum. The referendum is a thing in Ohio will be mud. The votes of past years have been examined. The original referendum provision in the constitution carried by 50-rean to investigate the stuff offered in exchange for the farmer's hard-earned cash. Be it so. Soon the farmer will be wised up to all the dupes of the slicker type of salesman who puts things over. No big sky law can ever reach all the breed and the farmers have got the right idea in protecting themselves. Goodness knows few other people will look after those who cannot look after themselves.

Quite unknown to the opposition the forces that want it made compulsory to read the Holy Bible in the public schools have been getting in their work right smart. As we would say in the rural provinces, it appears that they have had a corps of lecturers out and one of them recently told an audience in Athens that the "constitution is founded on the Bible."

Golden Dream Coffee, the aroma temple, the flavor convinces.

Play Is A Big Success

An unusually large and appreciative audience attended the clever production, "The New Code" given by the Scioto County Normal Students last evening at the Wheelersburg High School.

Class in ornithology, which is fancy name for bird study, please stand up. Now what bright little boy or girl can tell me the name of the bird that has its ears in the back of its head and hops like a frog? It will not be the duck and will thereby hatch out the eggs, said bird being too lazy and trifling to hatch out its own eggs and so lacking in skill as to be unable to build a nest? At this time we forget the name of the bird, but the bird is a real home is. And we want to say that the natural history specimen can be duplicated in the halls of legislation. The "birds"—and they are such—are those who are planning to let us choose our own bird and workmen hatch out their liability insurance company eggs. The plan has been carefully formulated whereby the provisions of the Culbert bill and the Burns bills, much like it, are to be attached to the needed employer-workman bill, perfectly the workmen's compensation. The measure which neither side wants to be given to the employers and workmen against their will and if they do not accept the other needed legislation will be held up. Can they get away with it, these birds, with their heads in the clouds? Who knows? At least, if they do, the people will be told about the plot and the fellows urging it will be carefully tagged.

Now we shall see what woman, lovely woman, can do in one of the great practical works of government, getting election returns. The Jefferson County Democracy has prepared to sample us with the test named Miss Marie Dickson, a girl who has been around headquarters as member of the board. She can serve do work for the party here and there, cause aside from a few spots in the map these county election board members have no more idea of time than a mule in his stall. There can daily days, even weeks, over setting figures that ought to be supplied in forty-eight hours. Why this is so, we have been able to figure out. But the press of the state will say ferociously "Bless you, little Miss Dickson" if she is able to deliver the goods and show up those slow-thinking men.

Despite opposition in many quarters it appears that many of the majority members of the Ohio General Assembly are determined upon the enactment of the elections code when the session is renewed on April 18. Thus far the farmers' have sat by very much and have had little to say about the reform of their lands and the general registration in country as well as city. How came the farmers to overlook this? What, indeed, is an unanswered question unless it be assumed that in the right time they intend to offer a little amendment taking out the rural registration, the farmers will have a certain district should be exempt is not clear. Around every city there are big districts that are for all practical purposes as urban as the cities themselves yet are for fraud—if one may call them such—are left. If the city men can be compelled to enroll one wonders if the same requirement is not made of

Here at Last—The Perfect Washing Machine

Phone 2101 For Demonstration

Walter Electric Company

1209 THIRD STREET
PORTSMOUTH, OHIO

Faster — More Economical — More Durable — Simpler in Construction — Does Better Work.

"Easy" Vacuum Electric Washing Machine

PRINCIPLE—The "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washing Machine differs radically from other washing machines, because it operates on the principle of air pressure and suction. When washing machine is in operation, the two vacuum cups inside the tub move up and down 60 times per minute, taking a new position on each downward stroke. The air contained in the cups on the down stroke forces the soapy water through the mesh of the garments, while on the up stroke the cups suck the soapy water back through the mesh. This suction carries with it any foreign substance and dirt lodged in the mesh—it does not in the least injure the daintiest laces, flannels, lingerie, etc.; in fact it preserves them, there being no dragging, rubbing or jerking of the clothes over cleated or corrugated surfaces.

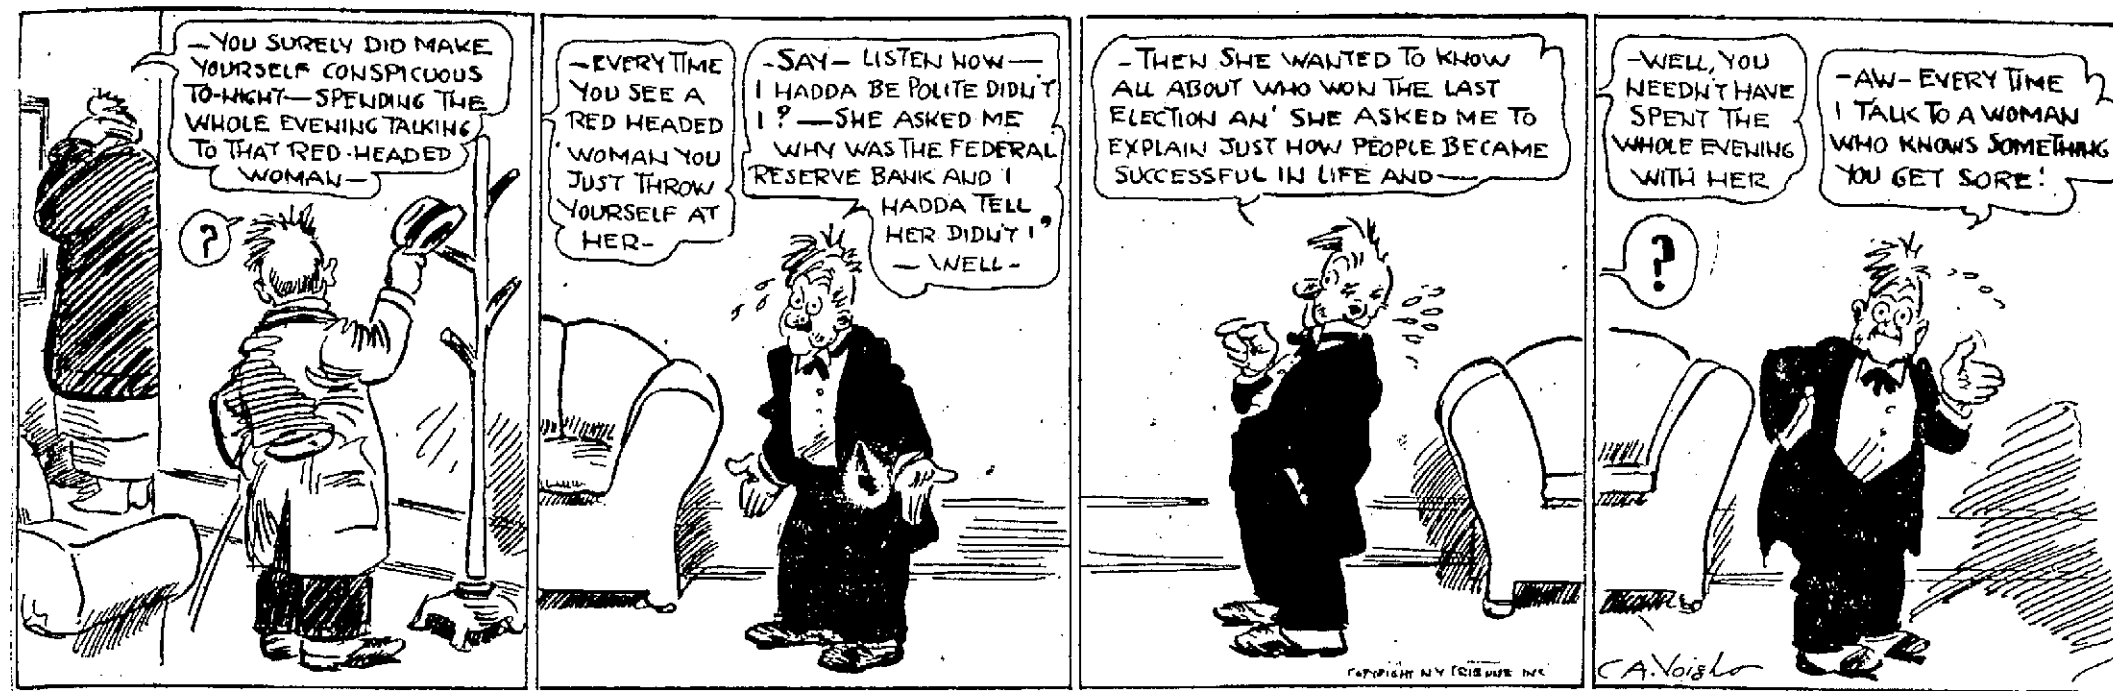

CAPACITY—10 sheets or 14 pounds of dry clothes.

SIMPLICITY—It is very simple to operate the "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washing Machine. In six to ten minutes after you have placed the clothes in the water, and turned on electric switch, the results will satisfy the most scrupulous housewife who prides herself on the snow-white appearance of her washing. There are only two levers—one stops and starts washing machine; the other operates wringer—either to start, stop or reverse.

This Is Settled

CHICAGO, April 16.—Officials of the Commonwealth Edison Company today had the last word in the controversy over a game scheduled for Sunday between the Aristo Giants, a semi-pro baseball club of the Chicago league, and the Black Sox, most of whom are dismissed members of the Chicago White Sox. Major league officials called to the attention of the Edison Company that the game was to be played on their land, when the Aristo league refused to cancel the game, and the Edison company said the Black Sox would have to seek another diamond.

Traynor Let Out

PITTSBURGH, April 16.—Headquarters of the Pittsburgh National league baseball club was advised today by Manager Gibson, who is in Cincinnati, that Harold "Pie" Traynor, shortstop, had been released to Birmingham, of the Southern Association. Traynor is to revert back to the Pirates at the close of the season.

LEWIS WINS

DETROIT, April 16.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, defeated Bob Managoff in two straight falls, 21½ using a headlock the first fall came in 18 minutes and 50 seconds and the second in five minutes with a full Nelson.

700 Classmen

Stars And Professionals To Play At Coney Sunday

What is expected to be one of the best baseball games of the season will be played at Coney Island, Ky., Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock when Mason's Professionals will battle Manager Shultz's All Stars. These two teams met several weeks ago and Shultz's Stars emerged victorious 6 to 1. Since that time the Professionals have been putting in some hard practice licks and plan to even up the count. The Stars are just as confident as Republicans at a picnic and expect to maintain a clean slate. Mason's Professionals will line up as follows: Valodis, ss; Schweinsberg, 2b; Barlier, 1b; Klitch, 1b; Hubert, c; Smith or Waite, mf; Keyser, rf; Mason, 3b; Spence, p.

Manager Shultz has arranged to bring out all his regulars and a great battle is anticipated. The grounds at Coney are now in spic and span shape with the huge and modern grandstand nearing completion. It will be all ready for the opening of the season on Sunday, April 24, when Shultz's Stars will meet the strong team from Russell, Ky., when practically every fan from Russell will accompany the team making the trip in the new excursion steamer, J. P. Davis, now moored at the Fulton wharf. The boat is one of the trimmest craft on the Ohio River. A new dance hall was installed this week, giving the dancers 1,000 feet of space in which to trip the light fantastic. Captain Davis is sparing no expense in making the boat complete in every way. A steam calliope has been purchased and is being installed. The boat has been overhauled from hull to cabin—is in rip top shape and will be inspected by the government this coming week.

Captain Davis, who has leased the playing grounds to Manager Shultz, stated that his merry-go-round would be placed in position this week. He is having several booths erected, and will dispense soft drinks and ice cream, together with all kinds of sandwiches. He hopes to make Coney Island one of the real famous summer resorts along the Ohio River and judging from the way he is making improvements to say nothing of the accommodations that will be afforded by the excursion steamer, he is going to do that very thing.

The game Sunday afternoon between the Stars and Professionals will be free to all, and the fans are cordially invited to come and see the exhibition.

JACKSON TEAM PLAYS HERE SUNDAY

The crack independent Jackson baseball team is scheduled to invade the land of the enemy Sunday afternoon when it comes to match diamond skill with the fast N. W. Sunday club, piloted by Johnny Grimm.

The contest will be staged at the Findlay street yard and hostilities will start promptly at 2:30 and the battle promises to be hard fought.

Both sides will present their strongest fronts in an effort to cop the opening struggle as keen rivalry exists between the opposing players by reason of their frequent clashes in the past.

P. H. S. STUDENTS NAME CAPTAINS; ENJOY BANQUET; TALKS MADE

Captains of the high school football team for the coming season, the boys' basketball five and girls' basketball five, were selected last night at the first annual banquet tendered the P. H. S. by the Athletic Association, being served in the U. B. church basement by the ladies of the church.

Jack Cressy, center on the football team, was selected as captain of the 1921 gridiron eleven.

Donald Gulkar was the choice of the students for basketball team captain for next year.

Glady's Solly was the player selected to head the girls' basketball five for next season.

The retiring captains are Fred Muller of the football and basketball teams and Pauline Coburn of the girls' five. Muller was unable to get into majority of games, being injured in football, and Richard Strittmatter was acting captain of the eleven and George Schiermann acting captain of the basketball quintet. As the announcements were made of the election, cheer leader James Ruggles led the students in giving the new captains a rousing ovation.

Prof. Henry Eccles, principal of the high school, was toastmaster and he presided in a manner that stamped him as a past master in this art.

Attorney Russell McCurdy was the first called upon for an address, and in his remarks he laid stress on the fact that the student who makes good in high school is the one who has a good start toward making a success of his life. Dr. Gilbert Mickelthwait, who cared for the athletes the past season, had for his subject "The Heads, Heels and Hides of Our Teams."

Retiring Captain Coburn of the girls' five gave a toast to the boys' team, retiring Captain Muller responding with complimentary remarks for the girls' quintet.

George Wilson, football star, in his remarks, told of the regard the boys had for their coach, P. B. McCombs, and how he had so carefully handled the team the past season. Captain Cressy spoke of the earnest work of the team the past season and how they dug all the harder, although handicapped at different stages of the season by injured players. He also took occasion to thank the School Board for its donation of $400 to the athletic fund. Captain Gulkar said that he would do his best to lead a winning basketball five next year. Captain Glady's Solly said that the sporting spirit was just awakening in the girls and that next year would see the school represented by a stronger quintet as there would be more girl students taking part in athletics.

Conrad Roth spoke for the School Board, adding that the Board was back of the school athletically and would give all support they could to develop winning teams in P. H. S.

The retiring students present were Jack Cressy, Donald Gulkar, Fred Muller, George Wilson, Mark Hoer, Carl Roth, William Cramer, George Schiermann, Clyde Caniffie, Andrew Steinhauer, Alfred Milard, Fred Steine, Ralph Chabot, Richard Strittmatter, B. Ogler and Jack Cropper. Gladys Solly, Pauline Coburn, Elizabeth beth Duduit, Minnie Clare, Margaret Armstrong, Bernice Doll and Florence Naple.

Members of the Board of Education and teaching personnel of the high school, together with a number of boys and girls from the high school made up those in attendance at the banquet.

Rev. George P. Horst, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, opened the evening with a prayer.

The Novelty Sextette played throughout the evening. The committee in charge of the arrangements for the banquet consisted of George Wilson, President of the Athletic Association, Fred Muller, Entertainment, Ruth Milard, Decoration, and Miss Estella Walz, Menu and Place.

Brewers Win
MILWAUKEE, April 16.—Milwaukee bunched hits with St. Paul errors in the fourth and scored enough runs to give the home club a 7 to 4 victory. Lingered, who succeeded Geurin in the third pitched excellent ball all the way. The game was played in a blizzard, the field being covered with a half inch of snow at the finish. The score:
St. Paul 301 000 000—1 11 3
Milwaukee 000 600 100—7 11 3
Kelly, Williams and Allen; Geurin, Lingard and Dunn.

Three Straight
LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 16.—Louisville made it three straight from Toledo by winning 6 to 5 in 10 innings when Ellis tripped and Balenger's smash got away from Decker. Decker, who bats ahead of Balenger had been purposely walked. Toledo batted Sanders out of the box and Louisville trailed the visitors until the ninth inning when they tied the score. Score:
Toledo 300 100 010—5 9 2
Louisville 200 010 002 1—6 10 1
Okrie and Clark; Sanders, Estell, W. Wright and Meyer.

Poor Old Columbus
INDIANAPOLIS, April 16.—The Indianapolis club came from behind again Friday after Columbus had taken a 5 to 1 lead and batted out a 7 to 5 victory. Eight hits were bunched off Sherman in the fifth and sixth innings to send the game into a tie and Shinnors drove home what proved to be the winning run off Martin in the seventh session. Hard hitting by both teams featured the contest. Score:
Columbus 040 100 000—5 11 0
Indianapolis 010 051 200—7 15 0
Sherman, Martin and Wilson; Stricker and Gossett.

Reds Beaten In The Eighth

CINCINNATI, April 16.—Poor playing by Cincinnati in the eighth inning Friday permitted Pittsburgh to score three runs and a 3 to 1 victory. Rixey pitched well up to the eighth inning, and Hamilton was saved repeatedly by his support.

Outfielder See, of the Reds, is in a local hospital with blood poisoning in his arm.

IGNORING AMERICAN LITERATURE

SINCLAIR LEWIS finds fault with New Yorkers—and the criticism applies with equal force to many others—for just skimming through the new books, or getting their knowledge of them from newspaper reviews, instead of reading them conscientiously.
This accusation is based on truth; but there seems to be no remedy for the condition of which he complains. There is not enough leisure in anyone's life to become acquainted with all the classics, much less the best in current literature. It takes more leisure than many have for their disposal just to read the morning and evening paper thoroughly every day. Conspicuous headlines are provided to permit the reader to discriminate between that which he will read and that which he will omit.
Reviews perform for books the same function that headlines do for newspaper articles; they save the reader from wasting time in a volume that might be better employed on another book.
Another complaint which Mr. Lewis makes, and which is also well founded, is that American readers have been unfairly trained to believe that our native authors are inferior to those of Great Britain. English novelists and essayists and dramatists come to the United States on lecture tours and are lionized. The result is that we neglect the works of American writers, though they are meritorious. The literature of the United States deserves more consideration.

WOMEN AND JURY SERVICE

ENGLISH women, given the ballot, seem to be learning masculine ways fast, for our English consuls are said to be already dodging jury service. They do not want to serve, and they make more excuses—perhaps better ones, too—than masculinity offers when a summons to become a venireman arrives.
Thus far American womanhood seems not to have developed the dislike of the male sex for this obligation of citizenship. There have been women on juries, as well as all-women juries, and in every instance the work of the feminine members has been highly esteemed by magistrates in a position to observe the operations of the plan.
It is to be hoped that no change will occur in this condition. In no other phase of citizenship duties can womanhood show such thorough devotion to the cause of social betterment as in fidelity to the call to aid in intelligent jury service, the machinery of the law. Men have proven recalcitrant in this field. Let the newer citizens show themselves better citizens.

A LESSON FOR ALL

IT would be exceedingly well if every citizen of the county could have seen the exhibit put on by the Red Cross and heard the remarks of Royal Agne, the latter all too few, at the chamber of commerce banquet, Thursday.
Most of us indifferently admit the Red Cross is doing good work and contribute a mite, complacently thinking we have done our duty, but not until we hear such a talk as Mr. Agne gave are we really impressed with the acuteness of the demand of the work and not until some hint of its scope and effect is thrown on our eyes by a demonstration, do we get comprehension of the importance and benefit of the organization's efforts.
After all, though, the most incredible thing is the need. It flares up and withers away our total ignorance of conditions as they exist around us and we feel amazed, yet humiliated, that we could be so utterly stupid as not to know that which is made so apparent.
The Red Cross is teaching the county the way to enlightenment, health and joy. That is to its credit, but it is more so in the truth that it finds a cordial welcome wherever it goes and is achieving a large measure of success in every direction.

CAN NOT LAST ALWAYS

IF dollar wheat and 25 cent corn are not in sight they are lurking just outside the barn.
In Chicago, this week, July wheat was quoted at $1.07 1/2 and locally corn was selling at 40 cents.
This is not all of the gloomy vista that spreads before the farmer. Every commodity he produces is sinking rapidly to the bottom and untimely frosts and freezes have blighted every prospect for berries, grapes, cherries, plums, peaches and apples over a great part of the country. Half the farmers are convinced now that chinch bugs will destroy the wheat and drought shrivel up the corn.
Anywise no pleasant prospect is presented to the agricultural interests in the depression that covers the world. Of all industries these were the worst hit for retail prices of other commodities that must be bought for farm and family have in no sense suffered a decline comparable to those which marked soil yields.
The only silver lining to the cloud is that the worst is near at hand and after that there will be a long and marked improvement. Decreased production and a gradual readjustment of affairs generally, but more especially the solidifying of financial relations will bring about this betterment.

THE EXPECTED HAPPENS

FOUR PROHIBITION agents have been convicted at Buffalo, New York, of grafting. It was shown that instead of making any honest effort at enforcement they had sold themselves to a huge liquor ring to protect it in its operation.
Here was a case of the inevitable happening. That division of the revenue law, which is charged with making prohibition, evidently starting out convinced of the soundness of the teaching, that to catch a thief you must set a thief after him. Proceeding on this theory it recruited its operating ranks partly from post graduates of bumbling and boozing, sending out roughnecks and derelicts, who had never been any good and never would be. That a large percentage of these, if not actually all of them would prove recalcitrant to every responsibility and prey to every hoodler was a foregone conclusion as certain as their appointment.

A Glimpse Of A Century Ago

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—A vivid reminder of the time when an unexplored wilderness lay west of the Mississippi, when government engineers on duty out there hunted buffalo and occasionally had to fight Indians, was brought to light in the war department the other day.

Mr. De Grange, who has charge of the library in the office of the chief of engineers, was doing a little spring house cleaning when he came upon an old and faded diary. An examination showed that it was the journal of one Joseph Nicolas Nicolet, a distinguished French astronomer and explorer, who was employed for several years by the United States Engineer Corps almost a century ago. And this volume contained not only an interesting account of the Frenchman's adventures in the wilds of the Middle West, but also a beautiful collection of pressed wild flowers in such perfect condition that they were transferred to the Smithsonian Institution for cataloging and exhibition.

Mr. Nicolet, who was born at Cluses in Savoy, in 1784, shares with the noted M. Pond, the distinction of discovering the famous Comet of 1821. Because of unfortunate speculations he had to leave France in 1839 and came to the United States. The American Government gave the noted astronomer assistance in making geographical and geological explorations of the territory beyond the Mississippi River and he was connected with the Engineer Corps until 1843.

It was while making these surveys that Mr. Nicolet made the botanical collection as well as compiling data and maps on the subject of explorations, which have proved of exceedingly great value to this country and have been published in French as well as English. The originals of these works and the maps which he so carefully colored at the time of the surveys are in the possession of the Engineer Corps at this time, but Mr. De Grange says they expect to turn these valuable records over to the Library of Congress for careful rebinding and cataloging in the collection of the Congressional Library.

Among these records is the Frenchman's personal diary, made while at Fort Clark, Mo. Like the more serious matter, Monsieur's personal thoughts are recorded in the yellowed pages of a tall, old-fashioned ledger in fine, precise handwriting. There are many statements of conditions in these crude times to make the present-day reader smile and some which make him wonder. A faded clipping of "The Patriot," a newspaper of the period dated November 26, 1834, that is enclosed in the diary, stated regarding the presidential election of that year:

Slow Election Returns
"Three weeks have elapsed since the election, but we have received few official returns—those from Missouri and Illinois. We are indubitably for the 'Missouri Republican' for these. They show Harrison, 149, Van Buren, 446. In Madison we learned verbally that in the election of one township, Van Buren had a majority of 60 votes."

In Monsieur's diary, called "My Fort Clark Journal," (dated 1837), and carefully protected by a hand-sewn cover of elkskin, under March 6th is noted: "Hail, gentle Spring, I greet thee with feelings of most heartfelt delight. Greenest have arrived from the Camp and says strange Indians are encamped at Turtle Mountain."

Under date of March 14th—"The Indians killed one of my dogs—rebelated by killing two in his place—sweet revenge."

Wednesday—"The express from St. Louis for Fort Union remains here as yet having no person to send with it. There is a cold north-west wind so that we are not able to even haul wood. My hunters arrived with the meat of four barks."

Sunday, May 26th—"Sent up to Greenestown to collect some news. Had duck for dinner, the first this year. The men at the Fort made a record yesterday by killing 900 rats. They did not finish till nearly dawn."

February 3, 1838—"Killed one wolf last night—stormy weather—Major killed two and says today that Mitchell who went hunting with him arrived home with only the meat of one poor fellow. The men ran a band of buffalo of at least 2000 and killed a great number."

Sunday, the 23rd—"Today was a holiday and we celebrated with a fine, big dinner, prepared by old Charbonneau. We had roast beef, boiled tongue, broiled pheasants, bread, to-bacco, coffee and grog."

From these excerpts it may be seen that M. Nicolet's diary, at least, is distinctly free from weighty and scientific matter, but it is certainly interesting as it holds up the looking glass to our Middle West of that period.

A further view of that time, especially on the H. C. of L. in the early forties, just prior to the gold rush across the plains, is given on the last few pages of the diary when some accounts of trade with the Indians are set down.

Fur Was Cheap
In one instance, Monsieur bought from Frederick, another Indian, five wolf skins for $2.50, and three fox for $1.75. In return he sold beads ($1.00), bacon ($1.25), buttons ($1.00), grog and tobacco, ($1.00).
Another most noteworthy transaction took place when he purchased eight wolf skins, five red fox skins, and two grey fox from Baptiste, a third Indian trapper, for the modest sum of $8.25. Baptiste, in turn, bought one-half a twin ball for $5.00, one blue wolf robe for $1.00, two pounds of sugar for $2.00, 12 pounds of flour for $3.50, one pound of coffee, and one pound of tobacco for $1.00.

It is quite evident that the above were considered exceedingly weighty transactions and were recorded in all due seriousness and it is equally evident that Monsieur Nicolet not only had a sense of humor but was also a good salesman and a man of great diplomatic resources for he tells of settling many disputes between natives of hostile tribes and seems to have enjoyed his trading botanical, geographical and geological exploration work, and astronomical research equally well, although it is his work along the last named line which made his reputation. This excellent Frenchman died in 1843, just following the last notes given in his "Fort Clark Journal."

Let's Beat It
By Bertin Bruley
Let's beat it. Where I do not care.
I only know I want to go from here to there!

Boy, I declare I need new air. It's time to blow. Let's beat it!

I'm sick. I swear off street and square. Of jobs that's slow. And life; and so Allons, mon cher, Let's beat it!

A Dead Give Away
"That was the last card of dealt ye, Mike?"
"A splat!"
"Oh, I knew it was. Oh, saw ye spit in yer hands before ye picked it up."

Quickly Served
He was unaware of the eccentricities to be found in western Canada. He entered what was apparently the only hotel in the place.
After ushering him to a table and giving the stranger the usual glass of water the waiter inquired:
"Dinner is served, sir. Will you have sausages on toast?"
"No, I never eat 'em."
"In that case, sir," replied the waiter, moving away. "Dinner is over."

Could Not Be Satisfied
It was washing day and John had been kept from school to look after the baby. Mother sent him into the garden to play, but it was not long before cries disturbed her.
"John, what is the matter with baby, now?" she inquired from her wash-tub.
"I don't know what to do with him," replied John. He's dug a hole and wants to bring it into the house."

Couldn't Fool Joe
A teacher had spent fifteen minutes impressing on her class the proper pronunciation of "case." Then she turned to a little boy and asked, "Now, Joseph, what do you see on the mantelpiece when you go home?"
"Father's feet," came the prompt reply.

Poor Rui Cultured
"Madame, said the startled visitor, 'could I persuade you to give me a light morning refectory? I have not yet—ah—had breakfast.'"
"Lor," said the slatternly woman at the door. "Fer mean yer want me to fix yer up a smack to eat?"
"Yes, madam, if you please. And if you have no objection I will sit here on the steps and peruse the meditations of Marcus Aurelius while you are preparing—ahem—we will say hot biscuits, fried chicken and a matrimonial cup of coffee."

Have Abject Belief in Fate
In the Koran is found the idea that on the brow of every human being are inscribed invisible characters which decree the events of his life and his appointed time. The first is termed "Kismet," the second "Edjel." From this belief springs unquestioned submission to the decrees of fate. Death is considered by Moslems terrible only in the abstract and when viewed from a distance. In polite society it is never mentioned save under some poetical name. "Cupbearer of the sphere" is one of the more common phrases. And never is it mentioned except when prefaced by the words "Far be it from you."

President Martin says there's no place in the federal service for a mere office holder, so Senator March Swallow says he'll join the band if he gets the position. Mr. Smiley has traded his fountain pen for a cigarette case as it bruised his girl.

WHO'S WHO

In The Days News

COL. EDW. H. SHAUGHNESSY
Col. Edward H. Shaughnessy, once a messenger boy in Chicago and more recently a lieutenant colonel in the A. E. F., has been given the job of taking the kinks out of railway and air mail service.
Postmaster General Will Hays has announced the selection of Col. Shaughnessy as second assistant postmaster general and the former messenger boy will soon begin in and out of the postoffices all over the country on a "business man's schedule."

Colonel Shaughnessy is assistant director of the American Petroleum Institute, New York City. He was born in 1883 in New York City. He went to grammar school at Green Bay, Wis., and graduated there. That's all the schooling he had. He started to work when he returned to Chicago.
He read Horatio Alger while he delivered messages, and learned how boys become rich and famous and marry the boss's daughter. He learned telegraphy.

When he was fifteen years old he became ticket agent at the Elgin station of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, and a year later a telegraph operator. Successively he was chief operator, train dispatcher, assistant train master, and train master. When the superintendent of the road was ill he took charge.

Colonel Shaughnessy joined the Thirtieth Engineers as first lieutenant when the war broke out. He studied French until he spoke it fluently, and worked up a book of rules adapting American methods to French practice. So he promoted him fast. He was praised by Brig. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, assistant chief of staff, for his work as superintendent of the transportation corps in the Chateau Thierry region, and as general superintendent at Issur-Thille during the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives, and as general manager in the zone of advance.

He was given the distinguished service medal by General Pershing "for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services."

Musically Inclined
Rastus had entered the recruiting office to join the army.
"Which will you prefer, a mixed or an all-black outfit?" asked the officer in charge.
"No matter in the least, boss," said the negro. "Jes so it's got a band."

A Problem in Finance
"This thrift expert gives some good advice."
"How's that?"
"He says every time we earn a dollar we should save half of it."
"Umph! What are you going to do if you've already spent one dollar and fifty cents by the time you've earned one dollar?"

The Pessimists.
If the pessimists of the past had been right, men would still be living in caves and trying to get their meals with clubs and flint arrows. And evidently they died without publicly confessing their mistakes for their pessimistic children continue to prophesy dimly that everything that is sure is going to be cannot possibly come to pass. They seem to be born with the habit and cannot get over it.—Detroit Free Press.

A. The Geological Survey states that the phenomenon to which you refer is known as efflorescence and is a very common condition caused by soluble salts in the clay. After the bricks are in the wall the moisture dissolves the salt, brings it to the surface and after the water is evaporated, the salt is left on the face of the brick. It can be washed off with water, but will probably reappear until all of the salt is washed out of the brick.

And evidently they died without publicly confessing their mistakes for their pessimistic children continue to prophesy dimly that everything that is sure is going to be cannot possibly come to pass. They seem to be born with the habit and cannot get over it.—Detroit Free Press.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

CALIFORNIA. April 16.—Hollywood is called Cinema City by the headline writers. The big motion picture studios are here and at Culver City. The studios look much alike—big stucco warehouses. In the open places one may see atroglydies' cave alongside the mansion of a Marquis, propped up from behind.
There are minute photo shops where the visitor by a process of trick photography may appear to be jauntily slapping Chaplin or Doug Fairbanks on the back. In this manner the druggist's clerk from Hickville, Iowa, may send post cards back home and become a chief celebrity.

Our chauffeur was a gay prevaricator. He pointed out Mary Pickford's home twice in two different localities and she lived in neither. He also said a scar on his cheek was the result of a hand to hand combat with a Persian in the Argonne. But we learned the right of way with a plate glass window while driving in Los Angeles.

All along the streets of Hollywood they were taking moving pictures. We saw a silk hatted villain spurn a simple country maid in gingham and sunbonnet. But the residents were more interested in a drug store window demonstrator heralding the virtues of a patent needle threader.

Despite the floating population here, Hollywood has only one hotel. The moving picture folk live in bungalows, owned or rented. Back East we hear of the wild life of the studio. Certainly nothing in Hollywood indicated anything but a peaceful quiet life. But our chauffeur said they had "hunger for parties and carried on fierce." Remembering his Argonne scar, I believe Hollywood is a pretty decent place.

As an illustration: We dropped in to call on Miss Ames Ayres, a film star, and old acquaintance. She was preparing to attend a Wednesday evening church service. Four other morning picture players were going with her.
